The creation of a new organizational model for crime reduction called the Stratified Model of Problem Solving, Analysis, and Accountability was developed and implemented. Two themes come out of this work-the importance of practice based-research approach and strong leadership to drive organizational change. This report is a companion to the COPS Guidebook entitled, A Police Organizational Model: Institutionalizing Problem Solving, Analysis, and Accountability, which provides a detailed description of the Stratified Model and specific guidance for implementation into any sized police organization.
