Is the theorem also true if the line cuts the legs instead of the bases? 6. In every trapezoid the triangle which has for base one of the legs of the trapezoid, and for vertex the middle point of the opposite side, is equivalent to one-half of the trapezoid. 7, The sum of the areas of two opposite triangles, formed by joining a point within a parallelogram to the four vertices, is equal to one-half of the area of the parallelogram. 8. The area of a trapezoid is equal to the product of one of its legs, and the distance of this leg from the middle point of the opposite side. 9. The triangle whose vertices are the middle points of the sides of a given triangle is equivalent to one-fourth of the given triangle. 10. The figure whose vertices are the middle points of the sides of any quadrilateral is a parallelogram, and is equivalent to one-half of the quadrilateral. 11. Mutually equiangular parallelograms have the same ratio as the products of two adjacent sides. 12. Similar polygons are to each other as the squares of two homologous diagonals. 13.
